

Jeremy G. Woods' Newsletter

Welcome

As of today, January 11, 2012, I have a new website domain, www.jeremygwoods.com. I am using GoDaddy.com to buy the domain, and I am editing the website www.weebly.com to create the website. I have been using Weebly for probably two years now, but today I decided to upgrade to the Pro version. I believe it is worth it, although they do offer very good services for the free version.

I hope to create a monthly newsletter to update my reading audience on the books I am working on as well as any other projects I have started.

For now, this newsletter is going to be short; however, in the future, I may add more features. I am currently working on learning the new website's capabilities, so this newsletter may not even exist in the future. For now, I am experimenting with what I have.

The Strange Compulsion – A Sci-Fi Novel

I started a book about three years ago entitled The Strange Compulsion. I ran out of ideas for a while, but yesterday I started to have more ideas for the book, so yesterday alone I wrote about 25 pages of the book. Here is a synopsis of the book:

A college student awakes every morning one and a half hour before his alarm is set, only to find himself writing scientific formulas he has never seen before. The professor who is summoning him telepathically is on the verge of creating something bigger than himself, but can they complete the training before it's too late?

Jeremy G. Woods

Huntsville, AL

jeremy.gray.woods@gmail.com

jeremy@jeremygwoods.com

WWW.JEREMYGWOODS.COM

*Visit my website for more information
Or to find out about my published works
And works-in-progress
I will update my site regularly:*

WWW.JEREMYGWOODS.COM